CHAIRMAN AND MANAGING
DIRECTOR'S
STRATEGY AUDIT

Your company strengthened its business during the last financial year, the full impact of which will become visible from the current year onwards.

29.44

%, Operating margins improved from 29.25% in FY 2023-24 to 29.44% in FY 2024-25

Overview

At first glance, your company may seem disappointed with its performance during the last financial year. Your company reported a decline in revenues and profits, the second successive annual decline in its surplus. However, the management of your company had not only expected such a decline but had responsibly communicated the same to stakeholders in advance.

This decline must be seen as a normal cyclical correction in the Company's operating markets, which the management of your company has experienced on previous occasions during its multi-decade journey.

I must assure stakeholders that there has been no change in the long-term business model or prospects of our company. During the relatively flat performance of the last financial year, your company continued to generate attractive cash flows, strengthen the business through progressive reinvestment and enhance its financial liquidity. In view of this, it would be reasonable to assume that your company strengthened its competitive advantage, the sectorial sluggishness notwithstanding, during the last financial year.

The strengthening of the Company's business model was reflected in an evident financial reality. During the year under review, the Company's operating revenue declined from INR 409.81 Cr in FY 2023-24 to INR 376.18 Cr in FY 2024-25, whereas the operating margins improved from 29.25% to 29.44% in the same period. The primary reason for the revenue decline was the inventory liquidation undertaken by the downstream sector, particularly in North America and Europe, which led to deferred purchases during the first half of FY 2024-25. This provides the optimism for profitable growth when the recovery is reflected during the whole year, wherein the profit increase in percentage terms is higher than the corresponding percentage increase in revenues.

Your company finished the challenging year under review with no long-term debt on its books, cash liquidity of INR 75 Cr (after having expensed INR 18.28 Cr in capital expenditure during the last financial year). Your company's relative strength was also derived from an easing in resource costs as well as the weakening of the Indian currency.

The revenue decline was primarily driven by inventory liquidation by downstream sectors, particularly in North America and Europe, who deferred fresh procurement in favor of consuming previously acquired inventory. This is a normal reality in a business cycle, whereby they would rather consume all that we have sold to them earlier rather than engage in fresh procurement. This did not come as a surprise; given the stable B2B engagement with our customers, we had been informed in advance of the impending slowdown. Based on this intimation, the Company had put out a guidance that the revenues slowdown would extend across the first two quarters of the last financial year.

The guidance proved fair, which is evident if one analyses your company's quarter-on-quarter performance during the last financial year. As anticipated, revenues rebounded sharply in the second half of FY 2024-25, growing by 18% year on year as the customers looked at replenishing the inventory. This rebound reflected not only the resilience of demand but also the robustness of our business model, leading to profitable growth.

Your company strengthened its business during the last financial year, the full impact of which will become visible from the current year onwards.

One, your company continued to develop new parts, strengthening its overall products pipeline of machined value-added products. The maximum weight of casting products that the Company can presently manufacture is 2.5 tons by weight.

Two, your company mined more customers from its sectors and also expanded our presence with long-term clients into new markets like Poland, Slovakia, Brazil, and Canada which should translate into synergies related to customer understanding, sales and brand.

Three, your company is focused to reduce sectoral dependence. We have consciously expanded beyond earthmoving and mining into railroads and are taking early steps into sectors like Ground Engaging Tools and Defense wherein we will test the waters first with fewer orders and then take our learnings forward.

Four, your company continued to focus on cost moderation through process simplification, focusing on generating superior material yield and prudent replacement of expensive resources without compromising product quality. Our respect for capital is also reflected in our investment in projects like Hybrid and Solar power plants which are reaping us benefits in terms of cost reduction. Our existing Hybrid and Solar Power Plants, which have a capacity of 4.5 MW and 5 MW respectively, are saving us around INR 14 Cr of cost saving in a year.

Five, your company continued to protect talent attrition, which was contained at less than 1%. Your company protected its knowledge capital through a supportive work environment, long-term growth clarity, quality-driven environment, established processes, extensive delegation, ongoing training and fair remuneration.

Your company continued to focus on cost moderation through process simplification, focusing on generating superior material yield and prudent replacement of expensive resources without compromising product quality.

Optimism

Your management is optimistic of its prospects.

The Company reported an attractive surplus even though capacity utilisation was only 45%. This indicates the capacity of the Company to remain profitable even at low asset utilisation levels, which should conventionally have turned operations unviable. Based on our engagements with customers, the Company's capacity utilisation is expected to increase attractively year on year across the next two years, strengthening capital efficiency.

Even as the global geo-political climate remains uncertain, the tailwind for a company like ours comes from the fact that the business remains labor-intensive and will always gravitate to countries like India with a demonstrated metallurgical and demographic competence. With its cost-efficient, power-intensive manufacturing capabilities, the Company stands to benefit significantly from this realignment, especially as OEMs seek alternatives.

There is a traction in customers seeking alternatives to China, benefiting India (and your company) in the process.

Looking forward, the global economic outlook is modest—with World Economic Outlook projections of 2.8% and 3.3% GDP growth in 2025 and 2026, respectively. However, India is expected to remain a high-momentum market. Your company's well-balanced domestic-export mix provides a natural hedge against geo-economic fluctuations.

We are now preparing to proactively expand our capacity before we hit peak utilisation, anticipated by FY 2027-28. A corpus will be built through internal accruals in the coming years, setting the stage for a new capex cycle starting 2026.

We believe that the US government will make a decisive investment in that country's infrastructure, which should benefit exporters like your company. Customer supply chains remain stable; no major changes are expected.

There are some levers that we are actively working on to ensure that we are positioned for sustainable and high-quality growth.

One, Steelcast will continue investment in international markets from 15 countries to 18 over the next 1-2 years. This broader geographic footprint is expected to enable the Company to tap into a wider array of growth opportunities while reducing dependence on a few markets.

Two, Steelcast will maintain its focus on improving operational efficiency through automation and streamlined process flows, with a targeted productivity enhancement of at least 10%. This investment is particularly critical in an industry characterised by high labour intensity and will serve as a competitive differentiator.

In view of this, we believe that your company is attractively placed to capitalise on an emerging industry buoyancy that resumed from the second half of the last financial year and should sustain across the foreseeable future.

Steelcast stands at a compelling inflection point. Backed by long-term customer relationships, a diversified product portfolio, and a disciplined cost structure, the Company is well-positioned to deliver superior stakeholder value. We believe this strong foundation will not only accelerate value creation but also elevate our brand across global markets.

I will repeat what I had indicated in my overview last year: Steelcast is positioned at a sweet spot, secured by multi-year customer relationships, broad-based products portfolio and competitive cost structure that should generate superior stakeholder value.

Chetan Tamboli,
Chairman

The Company reported an attractive surplus even though capacity utilisation was only 45%. This indicates the capacity of the Company to remain profitable even at low asset utilisation levels, which should conventionally have turned operations unviable.

OPERATIONAL REVIEW

We are striving to reach full capacity by FY 2028-29

Q: What was the highlight of the Company's performance during the year under review?

A: Steelcast reported a decline in revenues and profits for the second consecutive year. This decline was anticipated and proactively communicated by the management as part of a cyclical adjustment, consistent with the Company's historical market trends. It reflects the natural ebb and flow in our industry rather than any structural weakness.

Q: What were some of the positives experienced by the Company?

A: Steelcast maintained its debt-free status for the 2nd consecutive year, enabling strong return ratios and financial flexibility. The Company's annualised ROCE was 30.10%. Capacity utilisation improved to 45% in FY 2024-25, up from 42% in FY 2023-24.

The Company secured approval from the American Association of Railroads, widening opportunities in North America. Once operations stabilise, the Company plans to engage with more US railroad customers. Over the decade, the Company's customer base more than doubled – from around 20 to over 47 – while product diversity increased from 142 to 298 parts a month. The Company's sectorial spread expanded from five to nine end-user sectors, reflecting a focus on diversification.

Q: What makes you confident of Steelcast's long-term competitiveness?

A: The Company's competitive strengths include high entry barriers due to capital-intensive infrastructure, advanced R&D capabilities, industry-leading margins, and longstanding customer relationships. The evolution from a component supplier to a value-added service partner has deepened client trust, which has been reflected in repeat orders, and stable partnerships.

The Company does not operate in the commodity space. Instead, it specialises in customised solutions that address stringent metallurgical and engineering specifications. This focus on performance and precision has earned the Company a reputation for reliability, enhanced by the ability to support lean customer inventories with timely shipments.

Q: What is Steelcast's long-term business strategy?

A: The Company's strategy is built around diversification, strategic agility, and calibrated growth. We continue to explore high-margin opportunities across emerging industry verticals and are open to pivoting toward sectors that offer superior pricing and better value components. To reduce dependence on OEMs and address volatility, the Company entered the replacement market. Though margins are lower, this segment offers broader end-user coverage and greater order book stability.

The Company is on track to reach full capacity by FY 2027-28, with revenue potential of INR 850 Cr at existing realisations. It committed INR 18 Cr for debottlenecking and land acquisition to support phased capacity expansion. In the defense segment, the Company is poised to respond to new tenders, particularly for track components. The Company is making efforts to report a capacity utilisation of around 65% by FY 2026-27; a further expansion could be triggered based on enhanced order book visibility by mid-FY 2026-27.

Q: What initiatives is the Company taking to fulfill its green energy commitment?

A: Steelcast is advancing its green energy agenda as a key pillar of its sustainability and competitive strategy. The Company targets carbon neutrality by 2030 and committed to a new renewable energy project of 2.4 MW hybrid plant (group captive model). Fully funded through internal accruals, these plants will address rising energy needs and carbon footprint reduction. This is expected to generate annual savings of approximately INR 3.25 Cr, benefiting the bottom line. The existing renewable assets have generated savings to reduce operational costs, reinforcing sustainable growth.

Q: What is the Company's outlook for FY 2025-26?

A: Steelcast maintains a positive outlook for FY 2025-26, supported by sustained domestic momentum and cautiously optimistic global signals. Domestic demand has strengthened since October 2024, especially in the construction equipment sector, which is forecast to grow 10%-15% annually over the next three years, buoyed by government-led infrastructure investments.

While export demand remains uncertain due to geopolitical tensions, reconstruction in some regions could enhance international orders. The global economy is projected to grow at around 3% in 2025 and 2026, with strong U.S. growth offsetting weaker performance in other regions. Steelcast's diversified market portfolio acts as a hedge and looking ahead, the Company aims to expand our global footprint to over 18 countries, reinforcing its long-term growth trajectory.

Enhancing value in an integrated, inclusive and sustainable way

Overview

The Integrated Value-Creation Report represents a shift from conventional reporting practices, offering a comprehensive framework that captures a broader spectrum of initiatives while engaging a wider range of stakeholders.

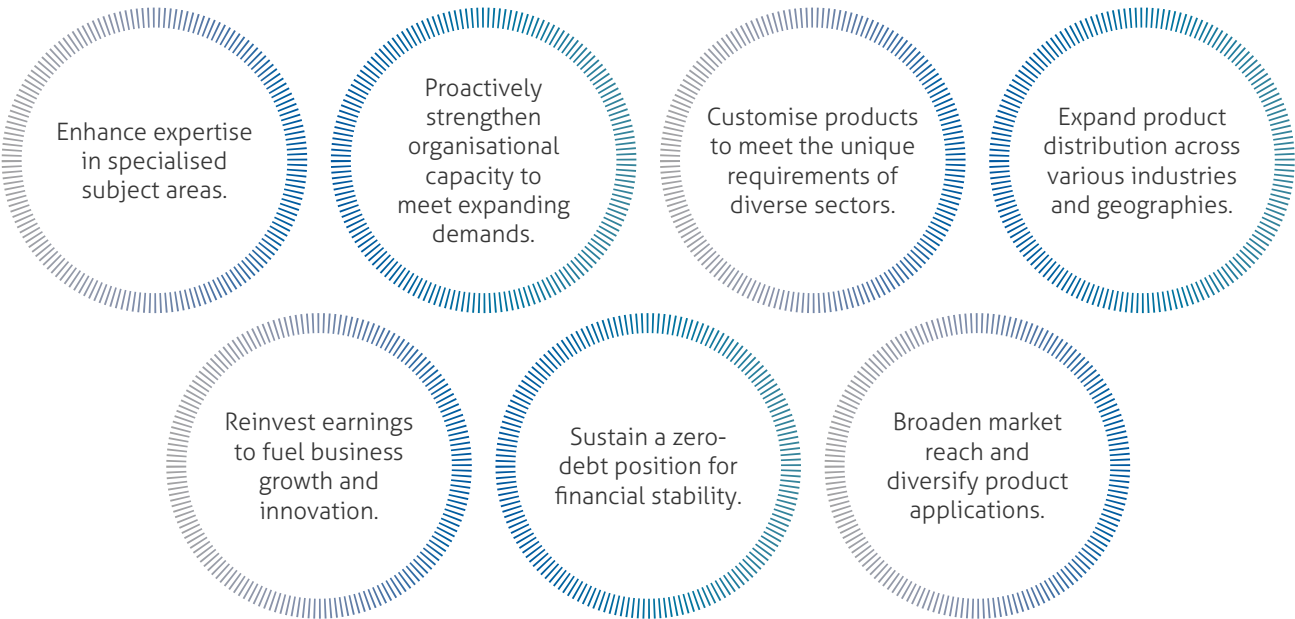

Integrated Reporting goes beyond traditional disclosures by combining sectoral context with an in-depth assessment of corporate strategy and competitiveness. It brings together key elements such as financial results, management commentary, governance and remuneration practices, and sustainability initiatives—presenting a unified view of how the organisation creates and preserves value over time.

This approach offers financial capital providers deeper insights into the long-term value creation potential of the business. At the same time, its scope extends to a diverse set of stakeholders, including employees, customers, suppliers, business partners, local communities, regulators, legislators, and policymakers, underscoring the organisation's broader impact and accountability.

By transitioning from solely 'hard' data (financial metrics) to including 'soft' data (non-financial metrics), Integrated Reporting provides a more complete assessment of a company's performance, aligning with the evolving expectations of external stakeholders.

Challenges and counter-initiatives

The Company faced a reduced workload during the first two quarters of FY 2024-25, resulting in the underutilisation of both staff and equipment

The Company responded by pursuing new business opportunities, diversifying customer segments, and advancing marketing efforts to stabilise and improve order inflows. Moreover, orders improved in the third and fourth quarters of the last financial year, which led to a better utilisation of manpower and equipment.

Maintaining a larger workforce amid low load conditions led to increased personnel costs and operational inefficiencies.

Strategic workforce reallocation, temporary role adjustments, and skill enhancement initiatives were introduced to better align manpower with current workloads while preparing employees for prospective demand.

The lower production volume led to inefficient use of equipment, impacting cost-effectiveness due to ongoing expenses like maintenance and depreciation.

The Company optimised production scheduling, initiated preventive maintenance programmes during low-load periods, and explored contract manufacturing or leasing capacity to improve asset utilisation.

Highlights

Maintained control over rejection rates during higher load periods, marking a significant achievement.	Achieved 45% capacity utilisation during FY 2024-25.	Implemented automation technologies in production areas like fettling, machining etc., to maximise the output of existing workforce and equipment	Produced castings for the Indian defence sector under the Make in India initiative	Developed new samples and procured CNC machines for customer requirement

ANNEXURE-I TO THE BOARD'S REPORT:

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Company Overview

Steelcast Limited has firmly established itself as a frontrunner in the steel and alloy-steel castings industry, renowned for its manufacturing excellence using both No-Bake and Shell Moulding techniques. The company continues to power key sectors such as earth-moving equipment, mining, construction, railways, steel, cement, locomotives, and defence.

With a clear vision for growth, Steelcast is actively exploring new geographies, sectors, and customer segments, while steadily enhancing its production capabilities.

Although the company's annual performance remained subdued for the second consecutive year—largely due to typical cyclical shifts in its operating markets—a strong rebound began in Q3 FY25, marking the return of healthy quarterly growth.

The company witnessed a decline in export sales while domestic sales registered marginal growth compared to the previous year reflecting the stable demand base in the local market. The outlook for 2025-26 is optimistic despite global disturbances relating to trade tariff and on-going wars in various regions , with strategic plans underway to broaden market reach, diversify sector exposure, and expand the product portfolio.

Global Economic Overview

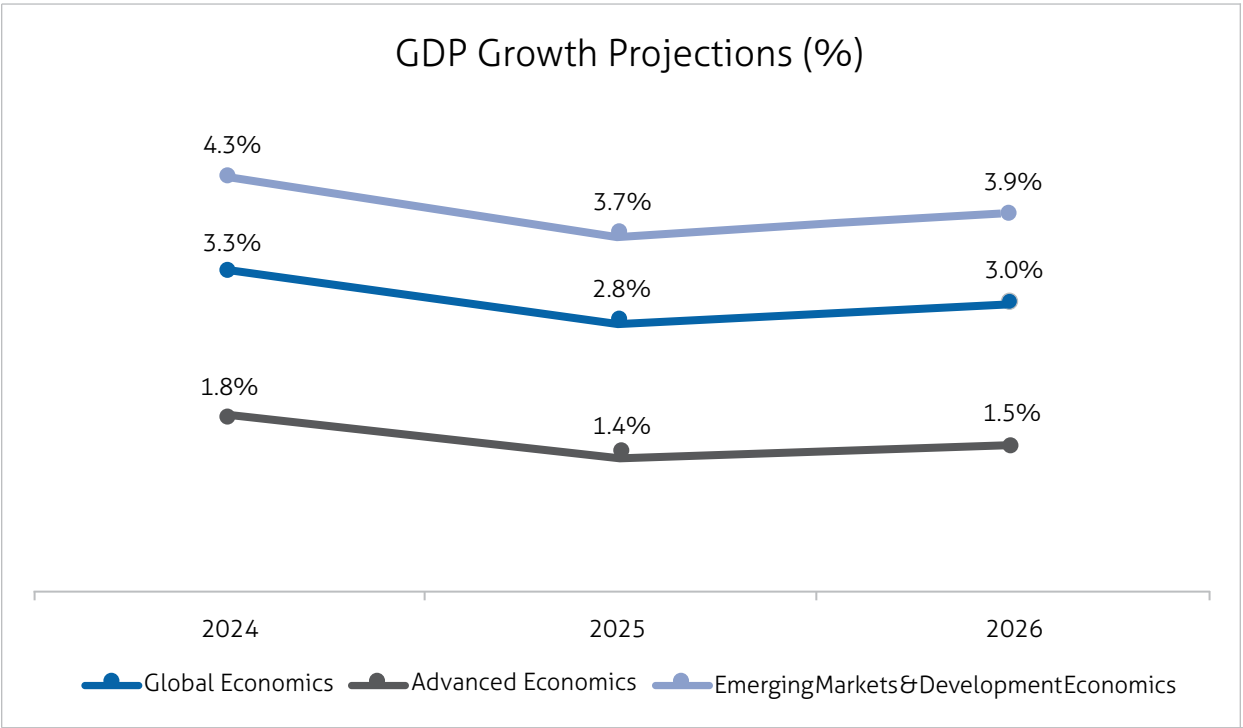

In 2024, the global economy grew at a moderate rate of 3.3%, suggesting a phase of relative stability, although growth remained lackluster. However, as we progress into 2025, the global environment is experiencing a significant transformation, driven by nations reshaping their policy priorities in response to escalating geopolitical tensions and increasing economic challenges.

The United States has enacted a series of new tariff measures, leading to swift and strong retaliatory actions from major trading partners. This culminated in the introduction of nearly universal tariffs on April 2. Consequently, effective tariff rates have soared to levels not witnessed in over a century, delivering a sharp and detrimental blow to global growth.

The situation has been exacerbated by the rapid and unpredictable nature of these policy changes, which have significantly increased economic uncertainty and rendered the near-term outlook more volatile. This rising instability has also compromised the reliability of traditional forecasting models, making it challenging to base projections on previously reliable assumptions.

In the midst of this uncertainty, global headline inflation is now expected to decrease more gradually than previously thought. It is projected to decline to 4.3% in 2025 and further to 3.6% in 2026. This revision reflects higher inflation estimates for advanced economies, partially offset by slight downward adjustments in emerging markets and developing economies.

United States

The U.S. economy is now projected to grow by 1.8% in 2025, a downward adjustment influenced by the effects of tight monetary policy and increasing trade disruptions. Inflation is expected to stay high at approximately 3%, with recent tariff measures contributing an estimated additional one percentage point. Domestic consumption is slowing down, and the manufacturing sector is facing challenges from rising input costs due to ongoing global supply chain pressures.

China

China's growth is also slowing, with projections adjusted to 4% for 2025, influenced by weak external demand, continued internal deleveraging, and structural shifts towards a consumption-driven economy. Inflation is anticipated to stay low and may even dip into deflation. This trend raises concerns about underlying demand weakness and the possibility of renewed credit stress, especially in the property sector. Also, the China+1 strategy, where global companies diversify manufacturing away from China to reduce dependency, is reshaping global supply chains. While this may lead to slower export growth. For India, this shift presents a major opportunity: with its large workforce, improving infrastructure, and supportive government policies, India stands to gain new investments, boost exports, and emerge as a key alternative manufacturing hub, accelerating its economic growth.

Euro Area

The eurozone continues to be hindered by weak consumption and exports, leading to a revised GDP growth forecast of 0.8% for 2025. Political instability in certain areas and ongoing energy insecurity are further eroding investor confidence, particularly in Germany and France.

Emerging Markets and Developing Economies (EMDEs): Growth in emerging markets and developing economies is exhibiting signs of moderation, with the effects being especially noticeable in countries like Mexico, South Africa, and Argentina. Elevated debt levels and weakening currencies in these markets are exacerbating inflationary pressures and limiting policy flexibility. Concurrently, many developing nations are facing tighter financing conditions and waning investor interest, which further exacerbates economic vulnerabilities. Around the globe, economies are adjusting their growth strategies to align with sustainability objectives in order to address climate change, resource limitations, and inequality. ESG principles are influencing policies, investment trends, and business practices. Decarbonizing supply chains, increasing the use of renewable energy, and promoting circular and inclusive models have become essential for economic resilience and international collaboration. In this context, water circularity is emerging as a significant priority. Circular models that focus on reusing, recycling, and recovering water are fostering more efficient and resilient systems. With advancements in treatment technologies and global partnerships, water circularity is being recognized not only as an environmental necessity but also as a strategic tool for sustainable economic growth.

Outlook

Despite the challenges confronting the global economy, this period presents a unique opportunity to enhance resilience and forge a more sustainable path forward. The adaptability demonstrated by many economies under pressure indicates that recovery is achievable with the right combination of coordinated policies and proactive reforms.

By collaborating to create a stable and transparent trade environment, facilitating timely debt resolution, and addressing structural imbalances, countries can foster a more balanced and inclusive global recovery. Maintaining a clear direction in monetary policy, utilizing macroprudential tools as necessary, and implementing credible fiscal plans will contribute to restoring financial stability and safeguarding long-term growth.

International cooperation will be crucial in navigating the future. With aligned strategies, strong leadership, and a commitment to collective progress, the global economy can regain momentum, rebuild resilience, and unlock new opportunities for prosperity across regions.

Indian Economic Overview

India's economic performance in FY 2024-25 has been strong, with a GDP growth rate of 6.5%, reinforcing its status as the fastest-growing major economy. The economy is benefiting from a mix of substantial government infrastructure investments, a recovery in rural demand fueled by a successful Kharif crop, and the continued growth of the services sector, especially in finance and real estate. The Reserve Bank of India's accommodating stance, including a reduction in interest rates, has significantly boosted investment and consumption. Furthermore, enhanced manufacturing performance and steady urban consumption have maintained robust economic momentum. Despite ongoing risks related to global trade uncertainties, India's strong domestic foundations, supportive policies, and dynamic private sector are expected to keep growth on track.

GDP Growth Projections (in %)

Sector-wise performance in FY 2024-25

Agriculture and Allied Sectors

In FY 2024-25, the agricultural sector is anticipated to grow at a rate of 3.8%, indicating a rebound from a period of underperformance. The beneficial monsoon season has resulted in a bountiful Kharif crop, greatly improving rural incomes and boosting demand. Furthermore, targeted government initiatives focused on enhancing agricultural infrastructure and providing support to farmers have created a solid basis for sustainable growth in the sector.

Industrial Sector

In FY 2024-25, the industrial sector is expected to grow by 6.2%, driven by a boom in construction and vital utilities like electricity, gas, and water supply. Manufacturing has also shown stability, with higher production levels in significant industries boosting overall sector growth and fostering a positive outlook for the year.

Services Sector

The services sector continues to be a crucial component of India's economic strength, with financial, real estate, and professional services anticipated to grow by 7.2% in FY 2024-25. At the same time, trade, transport, and communication services are projected to increase by 6.4%, driven by heightened economic activity and strong consumer demand.

Construction Sector

Anticipated to expand by 8.6% in FY 2024-25, the construction sector is reaping the benefits of increased infrastructure investments and substantial government backing. Significant spending initiatives are propelling growth, creating jobs, and producing positive ripple effects across associated industries.

From April to December 2024, India's retail inflation decreased to a manageable 4.9%, driven by a stable period for food and gasoline prices. This drop in inflation provided the Reserve Bank of India with a rare opportunity for monetary easing, leading to a 25-basis point rate cut in February 2025, the first of its kind in almost five years. This deliberate adjustment reflects renewed confidence in the inflation outlook and is expected to boost both investment inflows and consumer spending, thereby strengthening the country's economic trajectory.

The administration has reaffirmed its consolidation strategy by setting a budget deficit target of 4.9% of GDP for FY 2024-25, a significant improvement from the previous year's 5.6%. The Union Budget for FY 2025-26 allocates INR 11.21 lakh crore, roughly 3.1% of GDP, for capital investment. This substantial commitment underscores a focused effort on infrastructure-driven growth, aimed at enhancing structural capacities, creating job opportunities, and generating multiplier effects throughout the broader economy.

India's trade outlook seems to be on track for a gradual yet steady recovery. Exports are expected to rise, supported by strong global demand for key commodities such as engineering products, pharmaceuticals, and electronics. At the same time, falling oil prices and a robust domestic manufacturing initiative through the PLI programs are likely to reduce the need for imports. This trend suggests a shrinking trade deficit and a more stable external environment. The government is also pursuing new trade agreements and policies to boost exports, which could enhance India's standing on the global stage.

Alongside economic resilience, environmental sustainability remains a top priority. The government is fast-tracking its water circularity agenda to tackle the growing challenges of water scarcity. Its key initiatives like Namami Gange and Jal Jeevan Mission are expanding infrastructure for wastewater treatment and reuse. Guided by the National Framework on Safe Reuse of Treated Water, these programs are fostering collaboration among multiple stakeholders and unlocking innovative reuse models. This represents a significant shift from linear water usage to a regenerative approach that ensures ecological balance and long-term water security.

Outlook

India's economic outlook remains strong and resilient despite global uncertainties. For FY 2025-26, GDP growth is projected to be around 6.5%, making India one of the fastest-growing major economies. This growth is underpinned by robust domestic consumption, government-led infrastructure spending, and a booming services sector, particularly in IT and financial services.

Key tailwinds include:

- Rising manufacturing momentum via Make in India and PLI schemes
- Strong foreign direct investment (FDI) inflows
- Steady credit growth and improving banking health
- Digital public infrastructure and formalization of the economy

However, risks such as global demand slowdown, geopolitical tensions, and climate-related disruptions could temper near-term momentum.

Overall, India is well-positioned to benefit from global realignments like China+1, a growing youth demographic, and structural reforms, making its medium-term outlook highly promising.

Global metal casting industry overview

The global metal casting market was valued at USD 177.28 billion in 2024 and is projected to reach USD 325.69 billion by 2033, growing at a CAGR of 6.94% from 2025 to 2033. In 2024, the Asia Pacific region accounted for over 54.9% of the market share, leading the global market. This growth is primarily driven by rapid industrialization, the rising demand in automotive manufacturing, and the expansion of infrastructure projects in the region.

The global metal casting market is experiencing significant growth driven by multiple factors across key industries. The global demand for infrastructure is projected to experience significant growth in the coming decades, driven by factors such as urbanization, technological advancements, and the transition to sustainable energy sources. According to the Global Infrastructure Hub, the world requires approximately $94 trillion in infrastructure investment by 2040 to meet the demands of economic growth and development. However, based on current trends, only $79 trillion is expected to be invested, leaving a substantial $15 trillion investment gap. Asia, particularly China and India, is anticipated to account for nearly 60% of global infrastructure spending by 2025, driven by rapid urbanization and industrialization, according to Global Infrastructure Outlook (outlook.gihub.org)

Apart from infrastructure, increasing demand from the automotive and aerospace sectors, particularly due to the rise of electric vehicles and the need for lightweight, high-strength components, is a major contributor. Technological advancements, including improved casting methods, CAD/CAM systems, and additive manufacturing, are enhancing production precision and efficiency. The industry is also benefiting from a shift toward sustainability, with growing adoption of recycled metals to reduce environmental impact and costs. Additionally, expanding construction and infrastructure projects worldwide are fueling demand for durable metal-cast components. Rising defense and military investments further support market expansion, as high-performance metal castings are crucial for vehicles, weapons, and equipment. Together, these trends underscore a robust outlook for the metal casting market across diverse applications.

Indian metal casting industry overview

The India foundry market size is estimated at USD 25.57 billion in 2025, and is expected to reach USD 42.61 billion by 2030, at a CAGR of 11.13% during the forecast period (2025-2030). India represents one of the largest metal casting markets in the Asia Pacific region and is the second largest producer of castings after China. A major driver behind this growth is the growing demand in the automobile industry. In 2024, India's automobile industry saw strong growth, with total vehicle sales rising by 12.5% to 23.85 million units. Apart from this, programs such as 'Make in India' and Production Linked Incentive (PLI) schemes support local manufacturing and export growth. The government plans to introduce a green steel policy to promote the production of decarbonized steel, reflecting a commitment to sustainable practices. India is committed to decarbonize the steel sector in alignment with net-zero emission intensity target by 2070. The industry is increasingly adopting eco-friendly practices, including the use of recycled materials and efficient waste management systems, aligning with global environmental standards and enhancing competitiveness in international markets.

Position of the company in the foundry market

Amidst a global economic slowdown, India is poised to achieve a 6.2% GDP growth in FY25, buoyed by escalating consumption, expanding urbanization, increasing disposable incomes, and favorable government policies. (Source: pib.gov.in)

Our company has a strong foothold in the mining and earthmoving industries, which have traditionally driven the majority of our sales. Government investments in infrastructure and housing have, in turn, played a key role in increasing the demand for our products.

With the recent tariffs imposed by America on various countries including India & China, but considering good business and political relationship between India and America and comparatively lower tariffs on India as compared to China, we expect to have sizable new parts coming in for development as well as increase in share of business in existing parts as well. Also, India could now emerge as a global manufacturing hub as most of the companies are looking at China + 1 strategy as well.

Report on the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying standalone financial statements of STEELCAST LIMITED ("the Company"), which comprise the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2025, the Statement of Profit and Loss (including Other Comprehensive Income), the Statement of Changes in Equity and the Statement of Cash Flows for the year ended on that date, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information (hereinafter referred to as "the standalone financial statements").

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid standalone financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the Indian Accounting Standards prescribed under section 133 of the Act read with the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, as amended, ("Ind AS") and other accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the state of affairs of the Company as at March 31, 2025, the profit and other comprehensive income, changes in equity and its cash flows for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit of the standalone financial statements in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) specified under section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the standalone financial statements under the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the ICAI's Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the standalone financial statements.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the standalone financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters. There is no any key audit matter to be communicated in our report.

Information Other than the Standalone Financial Statements and Auditor's Report Thereon

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Management Discussion and Analysis, Board's Report including Annexures to Board's Report, Business Responsibility Report, Corporate Governance and Shareholder's Information, but does not include the standalone financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the standalone financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the standalone financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the standalone financial statements or our knowledge obtained during the course of our audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Management's Responsibility for the Standalone Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance, including other comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows of the Company in accordance with the Ind AS and other accounting principles generally accepted in India. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the standalone financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Board of Directors are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the standalone financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these standalone financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal financial controls relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the standalone financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the standalone financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the standalone financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the standalone financial statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the financial statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the financial statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

- (c) Provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2025, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

- a) it is expected to be realized in, or is intended for sale or consumption in, the Company's normal operating cycle;
- b) it is held primarily for the purpose of being traded;
- c) it is expected to be realized within 12 months after the reporting date; or
- d) it is cash or cash equivalent unless it is restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least 12 months after the reporting date.

Current assets include the current portion of non-current financial assets.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

B. Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment, capital work in progress are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation and impairment losses if any. Cost comprises the purchase price net of refundable taxes and any attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for its intended use and initial estimate of decommissioning, restoring and similar liabilities. Cost of residential flats includes amount of non-refundable one time deposits paid at the time of acquisition of property towards society maintenance. Borrowing costs relating to acquisition of property, plant and equipment which takes substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use are also included to the extent they relate to the period till such assets are ready to be put to use.

Subsequent expenditure is capitalized only when it is probable that the future economic benefits of the expenditure will flow to the Company. When significant parts of plant and equipment are required to be replaced at intervals, the Company depreciates them separately based on their specific useful lives. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the reporting period in which they are incurred.

Items of stores and spares that meet the definition of property, plant and equipment are capitalized at cost and depreciation over their useful life. Otherwise, such items are classified as inventories.

Gains or losses arising from de-recognition of property, plant and equipment are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognized in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognized.

The Company identifies and determines cost of each component / part of the asset separately, if the component/ part has a cost which is significant to the total cost of the assets and has useful life that is materially different from that of the remaining asset.

C. Depreciation on property, plant and equipment

Depreciation is provided on Straight Line Method in the manner specified in the Schedule II in accordance with the provisions of section 123(2) of the Companies Act, 2013. The identified components are depreciated over their useful lives; the remaining assets are depreciated over the life of the principal assets.

The residual values, useful lives and methods of depreciation of property, plant and equipment are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

D. Intangible assets

Intangible assets acquired separately are measured on initial recognition at cost. Following initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses, if any. Software is amortized using the straight-line method over a period of 6 years. The amortization expense is recognized in the statement of profit and loss unless such expenditure forms part of carrying value of another asset. The amortization period and the amortization method are reviewed at least at each financial year end. If the expected useful life of the asset is significantly different from previous estimates, the amortization period is changed accordingly.

E. Impairment of non-financial assets

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists, or when annual impairment testing for an asset is required, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs of disposal and its value in use. Where the carrying amount of an asset exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining fair value less costs of disposal, recent market transactions are taken into account, if available. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used.

Impairment losses, including impairment on inventories, are recognized in the statement of profit and loss.

After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

An assessment is made at each reporting date as to whether there is any indication that previously recognized impairment losses may no longer exist or may have decreased. If such indication exists, the company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. A previously recognized impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the assumptions used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognized. The reversal is limited so that the carrying amount of the asset does not exceed its recoverable amount, nor exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years. Such reversal is recognized in the statement of profit and loss..

F. Leases

Company as a lessee

The Company's lease asset consist of leases for land taken from Bhavnagar Municipal Corporation (BMC). The Company assesses whether a contract contains a lease, at inception of a contract. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Company assesses whether: (i) the contract involves the use of an identified asset (ii) the Company has substantially all of the economic benefits from use of the asset through the period of the lease and (iii) the Company has the right to direct the use of the asset.

The consideration for the right to use leasehold lands over the lease term is paid upfront and these leases do not require payment of any material lease rent amount on recurring basis. Right of Use assets are depreciated from the commencement date on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term or useful life of the underlying asset.

G. Inventories

Inventories are valued at cost or net realizable value, whichever is lower. Cost is determined on the following basis:

- Raw materials and stores and spares – on a weighted average method basis;
- Finished and semi-finished goods – at material cost plus direct expenses and appropriate value of overheads; cost of finished goods includes excise duty as applicable.

H. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured. Revenue is measured at the fair value of the transaction price received or receivable.

Revenue from sale of goods is recognized at the point in time when control of the asset is transferred to the customer, generally on dispatch of the goods. In determining the transaction price for the sale of goods, the Company considers the effects of variable consideration, the existence of significant financing components, non-cash consideration, and consideration payable to the customer (if any).

Goods and Service Tax, Sales taxes and value added taxes, wherever applicable, are collected on behalf of the Government and therefore, excluded from the revenue.

The Company does not accrue interest on long-term advances received from customers towards supply of goods or services.

Export Incentive

Income from export incentives under various schemes notified by government is recognized where there is reasonable assurance that the incentive will be received and all attached conditions will be complied with.

Interest Income

Interest income from debt instruments are recorded using the effective interest rate (EIR) and accrued on timely basis. The EIR is the rate that exactly discounts the estimated future cash receipts over the expected life of the financial instrument or a shorter period, where appropriate, to the net carrying amount of the financial asset.

I. Research & Development

Research costs are expensed as incurred. Development expenditure incurred on an individual project is recognized as an intangible asset when the company can demonstrate all the following:

- The technical feasibility of completing the intangible asset so that it will be available for use or sale
- Its intention to complete the asset
- Its ability to use or sell the asset
- How the asset will generate future economic benefits
- The availability of adequate resources to complete the development and to use or sell the asset
- The liability to measure reliably the expenditure attributable to the intangible asset during development.

Following the initial recognition of the development expenditure as an asset, the cost model is applied requiring the asset to be carried at cost less any accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses. Amortization of the asset begins when development is complete and the asset is available for use. It is amortized on a straight line basis over the period of expected future benefit from the related project. Amortization is recognized in the statement of profit and loss. During the period of development, the asset is tested for impairment annually.

Revenue expenditure on Research & Development is charged to the statement of profit and loss for the year in which it is incurred. Capital expenditure on Research & Development is shown as an addition to property, plant and equipment and depreciated on the same basis as other assets.

J. Foreign currency transactions

Initial Recognition

Foreign currency transactions are recorded in the reporting currency, by applying to the foreign currency amount, the exchange rate prescribed fortnightly by the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) for exports between the reporting currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction. This practice followed by the company is consistent with Para 22 of the Ind AS 21.

Conversion

Foreign currency monetary items are retranslated using the exchange rate prevailing at the reporting date. Non-monetary items which are carried in terms of historical cost denominated in a foreign currency are reported using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

Exchange differences

Exchange differences arising on the settlement of monetary items or on reporting such monetary items at rates different from those at which they were initially recorded during the year, or reported in previous financial statements, are recognized as income or as expenses in the year in which they arise.

K. Employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits

The undiscounted amount of short-term employee benefits expected to be paid in exchange for services rendered by employees is recognized during the period when the employee renders the service.

Post-employment benefit plans

- i. Defined Contribution Plan: Contribution for provident fund are accrued in accordance with applicable statutes and deposited with the Regional Provident Fund Commissioner. Contribution for Superannuation in respect of certain employees of the company is made in accordance with the scheme with Life Insurance Corporation of India.
- ii. Defined Benefit Plan: The liability in respect of gratuity is determined using Projected Unit Credit Method with actuarial valuation carried out as at balance sheet date. Contributions in respect of gratuity are made to the Group Gratuity Scheme with Life Insurance Corporation of India. The net interest cost is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net balance of the defined benefit obligation and the fair value of plan assets.

The Company recognizes the following changes in the net defined benefit obligation as an expense in the statement of profit and loss:

- a. Service costs comprising current service costs, past-service costs, gains and losses on curtailments and non-routine settlements; and
- b. Net interest expense or income

Re-measurements, comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), are recognised immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through other comprehensive income in the period in which they occur. Re-measurements are not reclassified to profit or loss in subsequent periods.

Other long-term employee benefits

Long term compensated absences are provided for based on actuarial valuation at the year end. The actuarial valuation is done as per Projected Unit Credit method. Actuarial gains/losses are immediately taken to the statement of profit and loss and are not deferred.

L. Borrowing costs

Borrowing cost includes interest, amortization of ancillary costs incurred in connection with the arrangement of borrowings.

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of an asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale are capitalized as part of the cost of the respective asset. All other borrowing costs are expensed in the period they occur.

M. Income taxes

Tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Current income-tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities in accordance with the Income-tax Act, 1961 enacted in India. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted or substantively enacted, at the reporting date. Current income tax relating to items recognized outside profit or loss is recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in other comprehensive income or directly in equity.

Deferred tax is provided using the liability method on temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all taxable temporary differences, except:

- When the deferred tax liability arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss and does not give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences
- In respect of taxable temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, when the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences can be controlled and it is probable that the temporary differences will not reverse in the foreseeable future

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, the carry forward of unused tax credits and any unused tax losses. Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilised, except:

- When the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss and does not give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences
- In respect of deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associates and interests in joint ventures, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that the temporary differences will reverse in the foreseeable future and taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax asset is reviewed as at each balance sheet date and written down or written up to reflect whether taxable profit will be available or not.

Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity).

N. Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

(i) Financial assets

Initial recognition and measurement

All financial assets are recognised initially at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset.

Subsequent measurement

For purposes of subsequent measurement, financial assets are classified in four categories:

- Debt instruments at amortised cost
- Debt instruments at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)
- Debt instruments, derivatives and equity instruments at fair value through profit or loss (FVTPL)
- Equity instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)

Debt instruments at amortised cost

A 'debt instrument' is measured at the amortised cost if both the following conditions are met:

- a) The asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets for collecting contractual cash flows, and
- b) Contractual terms of the asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest (SPPI) on the principal amount outstanding.

After initial measurement, such financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest rate (EIR) method. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortization is included in finance income in the profit or loss. The losses arising from impairment are recognised in the profit or loss. This category generally applies to trade and other receivables.

Debt instrument at FVTOCI

A 'debt instrument' is classified as at the FVTOCI if both of the following criteria are met:

- a) The objective of the business model is achieved both by collecting contractual cash flows and selling the financial assets, and
- b) The asset's contractual cash flows represent SPPI

Debt instruments included within the FVTOCI category are measured initially as well as at each reporting date at fair value. Fair value movements are recognized in the other comprehensive income (OCI). However, the Company recognizes interest income, impairment losses & reversals and foreign exchange gain or loss in the statement of profit and loss. On de-recognition of the asset, cumulative gain or loss previously recognised in OCI is reclassified from the equity to statement of profit and loss. Interest earned whilst holding FVTOCI debt instrument is reported as interest income using the EIR method.

Debt instrument at FVTPL

FVTPL is a residual category for debt instruments. Any debt instrument, which does not meet the criteria for categorization as at amortized cost or as FVTOCI, is classified as at FVTPL.

In addition, the Company may elect to designate a debt instrument, which otherwise meets amortized cost or FVTOCI criteria, as at FVTPL. However, such election is allowed only if doing so reduces or eliminates a measurement or recognition inconsistency (referred to as 'accounting mismatch'). The Company has not designated any debt instrument as at FVTPL.

Debt instruments included within the FVTPL category are measured at fair value with all changes recognized in the statement of profit and loss.

Equity investments

All equity investments in scope of Ind AS 109 are measured at fair value. The company may make an irrevocable election to present in other comprehensive income subsequent changes in the fair value in case of equity investments which are not held for trading. The company makes such election on an instrument-by-instrument basis. The classification is made on initial recognition and is irrevocable.

If the Company decides to classify an equity instrument as at FVTOCI, then all fair value changes on the instrument, excluding dividends, are recognized in the OCI. There is no recycling of the amounts from OCI to statement of profit and loss, even on sale of investment. However, the Company may transfer the cumulative gain or loss within equity.

Equity instruments included within the FVTPL category are measured at fair value with all changes recognized in the statement of profit and loss.

De-recognition of financial assets

A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a group of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (i.e. removed from the Company's balance sheet) when:

- The rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or
- The Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a 'pass-through' arrangement; and either (a) the Company has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, or (b) the Company has neither transferred nor retained substantially all the risks and rewards of the asset, but has transferred control of the asset.

When the Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from an asset or has entered into a pass-through arrangement, it evaluates if and to what extent it has retained the risks and rewards of ownership. When it has neither transferred nor retained substantially all of the risks and rewards of the asset, nor transferred control of the asset, the Company continues to recognise the transferred asset to the extent of the Company's continuing involvement. In that case, the Company also recognises an associated liability. The transferred asset and the associated liability are measured on a basis that reflects the rights and obligations that the Company has retained.

Continuing involvement that takes the form of a guarantee over the transferred asset is measured at the lower of the original carrying amount of the asset and the maximum amount of consideration that the Company could be required to repay.

Impairment of financial assets

In accordance with Ind AS 109, the Company applies expected credit loss (ECL) model for measurement and recognition of impairment loss on financial assets which are measured at amortised cost or FVOCI.

The Company follows 'simplified approach' for recognition of impairment loss allowance on trade receivables and contract assets.

The application of simplified approach does not require the Company to track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognises impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition.

For recognition of impairment loss on other financial assets and risk exposure, the Company determines that whether there has been a significant increase in the credit risk since initial recognition. If credit risk has not increased significantly, 12-month ECL is used to provide for impairment loss. However, if credit risk has increased significantly, lifetime ECL is used. If, in a subsequent period, credit quality of the instrument improves such that there is no longer a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, then the entity reverts to recognising impairment loss allowance based on 12-month ECL.

Lifetime ECL are the expected credit losses resulting from all possible default events over the expected life of a financial instrument. The 12-month ECL is a portion of the lifetime ECL which results from default events that are possible within 12 months after the reporting date.

ECL is the difference between all contractual cash flows that are due to the Company in accordance with the contract and all the cash flows that the entity expects to receive (i.e., all cash shortfalls), discounted at the original EIR. ECL impairment loss allowance (or reversal) recognized during the period is recognized as income/expense in the statement of profit and loss (P&L). This amount is reflected in a separate line in the P&L as an impairment gain or loss.

For financial assets measured as at amortised cost, ECL is presented as an allowance, i.e. as an integral part of the measurement of those assets in the balance sheet. The allowance reduces the net carrying amount. Until the asset meets write-off criteria, the Company does not reduce impairment allowance from the gross carrying amount.

(ii) Financial liabilities

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified, at initial recognition, as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, payables, as appropriate.

All financial liabilities are recognised initially at fair value and, in the case of loans and borrowings and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs.

The Company's financial liabilities include trade and other payables, loans and borrowings and derivative financial instruments.

Subsequent measurement

The measurement of financial liabilities depends on their classification, as described below:

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading and financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition as at fair value through profit or loss. Financial liabilities are classified as held for trading if they are incurred for the purpose of repurchasing in the near term. This category also includes derivative financial instruments entered into by the Company that are not designated as hedging instruments in hedge relationships as defined by Ind AS 109.

Gains or losses on liabilities held for trading are recognised in the profit or loss.

Financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss are designated as such at the initial date of recognition, and only if the criteria in Ind AS 109 are satisfied. For liabilities designated as FVTPL, fair value gains/ losses attributable to changes in own credit risks are recognized in OCI. These gains/ loss are not subsequently transferred to P&L. However, the Company may transfer the cumulative gain or loss within equity. All other changes in fair value of such liability are recognised in the statement of profit and loss. The Company has not designated any financial liability as at fair value through profit and loss.

Loans and borrowings

After initial recognition, interest-bearing loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the EIR method. Gains and losses are recognised in profit or loss when the liabilities are derecognised as well as through the EIR amortisation process.

Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortization is included as finance costs in the statement of profit and loss.

De-recognition of financial liabilities

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the de-recognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in the statement of profit or loss.

(iii) Reclassification of financial assets

The Company determines classification of financial assets and liabilities on initial recognition. After initial recognition, no reclassification is made for financial assets which are equity instruments and financial liabilities. For financial assets which are debt instruments, a reclassification is made only if there is a change in the business model for managing those assets. Changes to the business model are expected to be infrequent. The Company's management determines change in the business model as a result of external or internal changes which are significant to the Company's operations. Such changes are evident to external parties. A change in the business model occurs when the Company either begins or ceases to perform an activity that is significant to its operations. If the Company reclassifies financial assets, it applies the reclassification prospectively from the reclassification date which is the first day of the immediately next reporting period following the change in business model. The Company does not restate any previously recognised gains, losses (including impairment gains or losses) or interest.

(iv) Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the balance sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

O. Derivative accounting

The Company uses derivative financial instruments, such as forward currency contracts to hedge its foreign currency risks. Such derivative financial instruments are initially recognised at fair value on the date on which a derivative contract is entered into and are subsequently re-measured at fair value. Derivatives are carried as financial assets when the fair value is positive and as financial liabilities when the fair value is negative.

Any gains or losses arising from changes in the fair value of derivatives are taken directly to profit or loss.

P. Fair value measurement

The Company measures financial instruments, such as, derivatives at fair value at each reporting date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- In the principal market for the asset or liability, or
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Company.

The fair value of an asset or a liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimising the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

- Level 1 - Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities
- Level 2 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable
- Level 3 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorisation (based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

Q. Earnings per share (EPS)

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effects of all dilutive potential equity shares.

R. Provisions

A provision is recognised when an enterprise has a present obligation as a result of past event; it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre-tax rate that reflects, when appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost. Provisions are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

S. Contingent liabilities

A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events whose existence will be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events beyond control of the Company or a present obligation that is not recognized because it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation. A contingent liability also arises in extremely rare cases where there is a liability that cannot be recognized because it cannot be measured reliably. The Company does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses its existence in the financial statements.

36 Significant Accounting Judgements, Estimates and Assumptions

The preparation of the Company's financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the accompanying disclosures, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities. Uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of assets or liabilities affected in future periods

Other disclosures relating to the Group's exposure to risks and uncertainties includes:

- Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies - Note 44
- Capital Management - Note 45
- Sensitivity analyses disclosures - Note 37 and 44

Judgements

In the process of applying the Company's accounting policies, management has made the following judgements, which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements:

Estimates and Assumptions

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are described below. The Company based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the standalone financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising that are beyond the control of the Company. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur.

Employee Benefit Plans

The cost of defined benefit gratuity plan and other long-term employment benefit plans are determined using actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions that may differ from actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate, future salary increases and mortality rates. Due to the complexities involved in the valuation and its long-term nature, a defined benefit obligation is highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date. The mortality rate is based on publicly available mortality tables for India. Those mortality tables tend to change only at interval in response to demographic changes. Future salary increases and gratuity increases are based on expected future inflation rates. Further details about gratuity obligations are given in Note 37.

Taxes

Significant management judgement is required to determine the amount of deferred tax assets that can be recognised, based upon the likely timing and the level of future taxable profits together with future tax planning strategies. Details on deferred taxes are disclosed in Note 21.

Useful Lives of Property, Plant & Equipment

The Company reviews the useful life of property, plant & equipment at the end of each reporting period. This reassessment may result in change in depreciation expense in future periods.

Impairment of Financial Assets

The impairment provision for financial assets are based on assumptions about risk of default and expected loss rates. The Company uses judgement in making these assumptions and selecting the inputs to the impairment calculation, based on the Company's past history, existing market conditions as well as forward looking estimates at the end of each reporting period.

Estimated impairment allowance on trade receivables is based on the ageing of the receivable balances and historical experiences. Individual trade receivables are written off when management deems them not to be collectible.

Provisions and contingent liabilities

The Company estimates the provisions that have present obligations as a result of past events and it is probable that outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligations. These provisions are reviewed at the end of each reporting period and are adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

The Company uses significant judgements to assess contingent liabilities. Contingent liabilities are recognised when there is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company or a present obligation that arises from past events where it is either not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation or a reliable estimate of the amount cannot be made. Contingent assets are neither recognised nor disclosed in the standalone financial statements.

Fair value measurement of financial instruments

When the fair values of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded in the balance sheet cannot be measured based on quoted prices in active markets, their fair value is measured using valuation techniques including the DCF model. The inputs to these models are taken from observable markets where possible, but where this is not feasible, a degree of judgement is required in establishing fair values. Judgements include considerations of inputs such as liquidity risk, credit risk and volatility. Changes in assumptions about these factors could affect the reported fair value of financial instruments.

37 Employee Benefit

Defined Benefit Plans

The Company has defined benefits gratuity plan. Every employee who has completed five years or more of service gets gratuity on death or resignation or retirement at 15 days salary (last drawn salary) for each completed years of service. The Company's Gratuity Fund is managed by Life Insurance Corporation of India.

42 Fair Values

Set out below, is a comparison by class of the carrying amounts and fair value of the Company's financial instruments:

Investments at FVOCI
- Investment in equity shares (Quoted)	-	1.96	-	1.96

Investments at FVTPL
- Investment in mutual fund (Quoted)	2,938.01	1,688.30	2,938.01	1,688.30

	5,220.79	2,652.08	5,220.79	2,652.08

The fair value of the financial assets and liabilities is the amount at which the instrument could be exchanged in a current transaction between willing parties, other than in a forced or liquidation sale. The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair values:

- The fair values of quoted investments are based on price quotations at the reporting date
- The fair values of unquoted investment in equity shares and compulsory convertible debentures are based on valuation report obtained from a Registered Valuer. In addition, the Company also made necessary inquiries with the investee company to evaluate the changes in fair value of these investments since the date of valuation by Registered Valuer and the reporting date and has assessed that there has been no major variation in their fair value. Hence the fair value as at 31 March 2025 has been taken on the basis of valuation carried out by a Registered Valuer as at 31 March 2024 and necessary inquiries made with the investee company to evaluate the changes in fair value since the date of valuation by Registered Valuer and the reporting date.
- The fair values of non-current loans have been estimated using DCF model which consider certain assumptions viz. forecast cash flows, discount rate, credit risk and volatility.
- Fair value of non-current security deposits is considered same as its carrying amount as majority of these are related to utility services and the same are repayable on demand.
- The fair values of non-current deposits with banks have been estimated using DCF model which consider certain assumptions viz. forecast cash flows, discount rate, credit risk and volatility.
- The management assessed that the carrying amounts of current financial assets and current financial liabilities such as trade receivables, cash and bank balances, loans, other financial assets, borrowings, trade payables and other financial liabilities are reasonable approximations of fair values largely due to the short-term maturities of these instruments.

44 Financial Risk Management Objectives and Policies

The Company's principal financial liabilities, other than derivatives, comprise loans and borrowings, trade and other payables. The main purpose of these financial liabilities is to finance the Company's operations. The Company's principal financial assets include loans, trade and other receivables, and cash and cash equivalents that derive directly from its operations. The Company also holds FVTOCI investments and enters into derivative transactions.

The Company is exposed to market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk. The Company's senior management oversees the management of these risks. The Company's financial risk activities are governed by appropriate policies and procedures and financial risks are identified, measured and managed in accordance with the Company's policies and risk objectives. The Company's financial risk management policies are set by the Board of Directors. All derivative activities for risk management purposes are carried out by teams that have the appropriate skills, experience and supervision. It is the Company's policy that no trading in derivatives for speculative purposes may be undertaken. The Board of Directors reviews and agrees policies for managing each of these risks, which are summarised below.

Market Risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market risk comprises three types of risk: interest rate risk, currency risk, commodity price risk and other price risk. Financial instruments affected by market risk include borrowings, payables, receivables and equity investments.

The sensitivity analyses in the following sections relate to the position as at 31 March 2025 and 31 March 2024.

The sensitivity analyses have been prepared on the basis that the amount of net debt, the ratio of fixed to floating interest rates of the debt and derivatives and the proportion of financial instruments in foreign currencies are all constant.

The sensitivity of the relevant profit or loss item is the effect of the assumed changes in respective market risks. This is based on the financial assets and financial liabilities held at 31 March 2025 and 31 March 2024.

Interest Rate Risk

The Company's exposure to changes in interest rates relates primarily to the Company's outstanding floating rate debt. All the borrowing of the Company are at floating rate of interest.

Interest Rate Sensitivity

The following table demonstrates the sensitivity to a reasonably possible change in interest rates on that portion of loans and borrowings affected. With all other variables held constant, the Company's profit before tax is affected through the impact on floating rate borrowings, as follows:

(INR in Lakhs)

Particulars	Increase/ Decrease in Basis Points	Effect on Profit Before Tax
As at 31 March 2025	+50	(0.02)
	-50	0.02
As at 31 March 2024	+50	(0.04)
	-50	0.04

The assumed movement in basis points for the interest rate sensitivity analysis is based on the currently observable market environment.

Foreign Currency Risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of an exposure will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company's exposure to the risk of changes in foreign exchange rates relates primarily to the Company's operating activities (when revenue or expense is denominated in a foreign currency). To mitigate the foreign currency risk, the Company enters into foreign exchange forward contracts. These foreign exchange forward contracts, carried at fair value, may have varying maturities varying depending upon the primary host contract requirements and risk management strategy of the Company.

The most significant foreign currencies the Company is exposed to is the USD and EURO. The following tables sets forth information relating to foreign currency forward contracts and unhedged foreign currency exposures at 31 March 2025 and 31 March 2024.

Foreign Currency Sensitivity

The following tables demonstrate the sensitivity to a reasonably possible change in USD and EURO exchange rates, with all other variables held constant. The impact on the Company's profit before tax is due to changes in the fair value of unhedged foreign currency monetary assets and liabilities. The Company's exposure to foreign currency changes for all other currencies is not material.

Commodity price risk

The Company is exposed to the price volatility of certain commodities. Its operating activities require the ongoing manufacture of steel castings and therefore require a continuous supply of Mild Steel, Stainless Steel and Ferro Alloys. In order to mitigate the risk of volatility in the price of these supplies, the contracts with customers contain a clause for recovery of the variation in the price of these supplies. Hence, there is no material impact of these price variations for the Company.

Other Price risk

The Company's exposure to other price risk arises from investments in equity instruments, compulsory convertible debentures and mutual fund held by the Company and classified in the balance sheet at FVTOCI and at FVTPL. To manage its price risk arising from investments, the Company diversifies its portfolio. Diversification of the portfolio is done in accordance with the limits set by the Company.

Credit Risk

Credit risk is the risk that counterparty will not meet its obligations under a financial instrument or customer contract, leading to a financial loss. The Company is exposed to credit risk from its operating activities (primarily trade receivables) and from its financing activities, including deposits with banks and financial institutions and foreign exchange transactions.

The Company evaluates the concentration of risk with respect to trade receivables as low, as its customers are located in several jurisdictions and industries and operate in largely independent markets.

The maximum exposure to credit risk at the reporting date is the carrying value of each class of financial assets. The Company does not hold collateral as security.

I) Trade Receivables

Customer credit risk is managed on the basis of the Company's established policy, procedures and control relating to customer credit risk management. Trade receivables are non-interest bearing and are generally on 30 days to 145 days credit term. Credit limits are established for all customers based on internal rating criteria. Outstanding customer receivables are regularly monitored.

For trade receivables, Expected Credit Loss (ECL) is provided as per simplified approach. The Company has applied the practical expedient as per Ind AS 109 'Financial Instruments' to measure the loss allowance at lifetime ECL. The Company determines the ECL on trade receivables by using a provision matrix, estimated based on historical credit loss experience based on the past due status of the debtors, adjusted as appropriate to reflect current conditions and estimates of future economic conditions. Below table represents the reconciliation of provision made for expected credit loss for trade receivables:

(INR in Lakhs)

Closing Balance	0.03	0.04

II) Financial Instruments and Cash Deposits

Credit risk from balances with banks and financial institutions is managed by the Company's finance department in accordance with the Company's policy. Investments of surplus funds are made only with approved counterparties who meets the minimum threshold requirements under the counterparty risk assessment process. Based on its on-going assessment of counterparty risk, the Company adjusts its exposure to various counterparties.

Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk is defined as the risk that the Company will not be able to settle or meet its obligation on time or at a reasonable price. Processes and policies related to such risks are overseen by senior management. The Company regularly monitors the rolling forecasts and actual cashflows, to ensure it has sufficient funds to meet the operational needs..

The table below summarises the maturity profile of the Company's financial liabilities based on contractual undiscounted payments.

45 Capital Management

For the purpose of the Company's capital management, capital includes issued equity capital, share premium and all other equity reserves attributable to the equity holders of the parent. The primary objective of the Company's capital management is to maximise the shareholder value.

The Company manages its capital structure and makes adjustments to it in light of changes in economic conditions or its business requirements. To maintain or adjust the capital structure, the Company may adjust the dividend payment to shareholders, return capital to shareholders or issue new shares. The Company monitors capital using a gearing ratio, which is net debt divided by total capital plus net debt. The Company includes within net debt, interest bearing borrowings (including current maturities), trade payables, less cash and cash equivalents and other bank balances.

There have been no breaches in the financial covenants of any interest-bearing loans and borrowing in the current period.
